Grand opening nears for Fox River Trail extension

The Fox River Trail's new six miles are open to the public, but some final details still need to be addressed before its grand opening.

In the next two or three weeks, the trail will have its grand opening, but Brown County Parks Department Assistant Director Doug Hartman is hesitant about setting a date.

"I want to make darn sure everything is in order," he said.

The Parks Department received a $200,000 grant last year to fund the expansion project for the now 19.9-mile trail with the additional miles extending southward to the Brown County line.

"We're getting close," Hartman said. "I would like to stress if you're riding or walking, you can certainly use the trail."
